Associate Justice Stephen G. Breyer of the Supreme Court of the United States Makes 2014 Clifford Symposium Keynote Address

Associate Justice Stephen G. Breyer of the Supreme Court of the United States will make a special address at the 20th annual Clifford Symposium at DePaul University.

CHICAGO, IL (December 2013) – On April 24th, 2014 Associate Justice Stephen G. Breyer of the Supreme Court of the United States will make a special address at DePaul University's 20th annual Clifford Symposium. Breyer's talk will explore federal Judge Jack Weinstein's work on civil justice. As a distinguished member of the legal community, Breyer's contributions will provide an enlightening and insightful introduction to this year's symposium.

Appointed by President Bill Clinton in 1994, Stephen G. Breyer is an honored Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court. Breyer received his A.B. from Stanford University, a B.A. from Magdalen College, Oxford, and an LL.B. from Harvard Law School. Breyer is joined by a distinguished roster of legal experts who will discuss a wide range of topics on civil justice including torts, civil procedure and the law of evidence. All speakers will examine Judge Jack Weinstein's impact on America's courts and the true meaning of seeking justice within today's civil justice system.

Robert A. Clifford, founder and supporter of the Clifford Symposium says; "We are extraordinarily gratified that Associate Justice Stephen G. Breyer of the Supreme Court of the United States will be joining us to deliver a special address at our 20th annual symposium. His commitment to the profession in all of the work that he does on the bench and off is to be particularly recognized by the legal community throughout the country. This will be a stimulating discussion and scholarship in American tort law," Clifford continues. "Throughout his entire career, Judge Jack Weinstein has been a central figure in that dialogue. We are proud and grateful that he would honor us on this special anniversary by allowing us to dissect his lifelong work."

The Clifford Symposium continues to provide meaningful expression to Clifford's strong belief that the civil justice system serves a number of vital interests in American society."
