Chicago television network to feature Top Chicago Personal Injury Law Firm in educational video series.

CHICAGO, IL (July 2014) – Clifford Law Offices is featured in an educational video series on Chicago Access Network Television (CAN-TV), a cable television service. Two educational videos have already been aired and are expected to re-air soon. One of the videos featured partner and medical malpractice lawyer at Clifford Law Offices, Susan A. Capra who speaks about the various facets of medical malpractice. She explains the common types of medical malpractice, shares what needs to be done if someone believes to be a victim, and describes the elements needed for a lawsuit to be filed.

The other informative video that was featured on Chicago's CAN-TV spotlights Clifford Law Offices attorney, Keith A. Hebeisen. In the legal education video, Hebeisen, who is also a partner at Clifford Law Offices, educates viewers on tort reform by explaining the history of it in Illinois State. In addition, he explains who is affected by tort reform and what the average consumer can do about it. Both video interviews were filmed by Clifford Law Offices.

This is not the first time Clifford Law Offices airs on CAN-TV. In May 2014, personal injury attorney at Clifford Law Offices, Thomas K. Prindable, was featured on a CAN-TV show called Chicago Counterpoint that provides legal education to members of the Chicago community.

"Educating the public on legal issues is important to us. We are thankful CAN-TV provides us with a platform to educate the Chicago communities on legal issues," says founder of Clifford Law Offices, Robert A. Clifford.

Susan Capra's interview on medical malpractice will be airing in Chicago on the following date:

- July 25th, 2014 at 9:40pm on channel 19

Given the large number of recent class actions filed in people's personal data being compromised by major companies, a schedule of upcoming video screenings is soon to be released featuring partner Shannon McNulty speaking on the topic of data breaches.
